To Street Commissioner
Francis Whitaker

In Re Letter to the Pine Cone of December 20, 1954

Dear Francis:

I do not think you should take out the topped tree on Fifth Street near Mission simply because you think it is an ugly tree. It would establish an undesirable precedent. Individual ideas of what is beautiful differ greatly. To me the desert is beautiful; to a good friehd of mine it is a "horrible depressing lot of nothing."

I enjoy a perfectly formed young pine as I enjoy looking at the clear eyes, shining hair and smooth skin of youth. But I wouldn't want to live in a community populated exclusively by teen agers. Nor would I care to find Carmel streets lined with perfectly formed young Christmas trees. The character and individuality one sees in the faces of the middle-aged and old frequently compensate for the unbeautiful wrinkles and grey hair. Even if they didn't, the presence of the middle-aged and old still would be justified aesthetically since by contrast they enhance the beauty of the young.

I think if we adopt a policy of removing our trees because they are "ugly" or growing old we shall deprive our streets of the character and variety that is their great charm.

A lot of people are indignant about the state highway department's proposal of ruining the looks of our approach to Carmel by putting in a freeway along Highway No. 1 from Monterey Hill to Carmel River. Which is as it should be.

But some of them are saying: "We'd like to see that highway widened from three lanes to four but we don't want a freeway."

Wouldn't a four lane highway mean bulldozing out the trees and hacking up the landscape as much as a four lane freeway?

Freeway fences, overpasses and access lanes, ugly as they are, would be little more than eye-sore frosting on an already ruined cake.

SPECIAL PLANNING COMMISSION MEETING

There will be a special meeting of the Carmel Planning Commission at 5:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the council chambers at city hall to discuss the alternate routes proposed for a freeway through Carmel area.

Since the planning commission members have expressed their unfavorable opinion of the freeway along Highway No. 1 proposed by the state highway department, there is little doubt what their formal resolution will be regarding it.

Suggested alternate route is through Hatton Canyon.

Council Did So Much For City In '54 Mayor Lyon Thinks That Members' Salaries Should Be Doubled In 1955

By Beth Ingels

"Oh, my!" cried Hizzoner in dismay.

My assignment was to interview Mayor Horace Lyon about accomplishments of the Carmel City Council during the past year, and also to find out what the plans are for solving some of the major problems confronting them in 1955.

"First and foremost," said the Mayor, "I believe we accomplished a great deal about the weather during 1954 and I think the council should be congratulated since we are the ones responsible. Weatherwise, 1954 was the finest I can remember."

"What about this cold spell?" I asked as I drew my afghan about me. "We asked for that also," he replied. "Since we couldn't have a white Christmas, we thought a cold one would do."

On the serious side, he pointed out that even though there was a certain amount of doubt concerning the advisability of purchasing a street sweeper, the majority of the merchants have stated that they now approve of the action and the result is that the business people are cooperating more than ever by keeping the sidewalks clean and neat in front of their establishments.

The pension plan for employees, even though it had to be placed on the ballot, is listed as another major accomplishment and step forward in the community. The parking petition has been signed, continued the Mayor, and machinery now set in motion for the organization of a parking district. This, it is hoped, will help solve one of Carmel's major problems.

Surveys have been completed on the ocean front where erosion is gradually destroying part of the shoreline, and actual work on recommendations will be started next year.

"Although some people may not think so, I believe the turning down of the application for a liquor license can be listed as one of our accomplishments. We urged the Board of Equalization to reverse the decision on the granting of such a license and our request was granted.

"The plan for planting of the lower Ocean Avenue parking area has been agreed upon and preliminary work has already been started. Cypresses will be planted down the center and there will be parking under them."

"How about the battle of the juniper and huckleberry?" I queried.

"That was a problem," replied Hizzoner, "and it took a long time to iron out. After much discussion we decided not to have junipers, and not to have huckleberry bushes, but, instead, to have both on Ocean Avenue.

"As for our plans for 1955," he continued, "we hope to have an even more active program of reforestation where it has been necessary to remove trees; eventually we would like to see all utility wires underground and we are working on this; many of our drainage problems have been worked out and we will continue to improve this situation."

New Year Resolution

For this new year
A firmer faith
In that which lies beyond things seen and heard,
Beyond the tangible, the evident,
The gross obstruction of the outward form.
A firmer faith in that which governs life
Throughout the chaos of our restless will;
That holds the fate of nations firm and true.
A firmer faith in man—
In basic goodness,
Truth, integrity and love,
The world-wide vision of peace . . .
These superceding by their gentle power
The darker drives
To which, made firm in faith,
We do not shut our eyes.

New Creative Thinking, Sewing Classes Scheduled For Winter Adult School

With the reopening of adult school Monday evening two additional classes will be offered, with the possibility of several more.

Creative Thinking, under the direction of Alexander Weygers, will meet in Carmel High School library at 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday evenings. It will offer training in mental discipline and the technique for getting ideas and developing them effectively. Weygers, a sculptor, craftsman and inventor, has made his home in Carmel Valley since 1945 where he and his wife Marian have a studio. He is best known for his fine wood sculpture, and at the county fair for several years was to be seen working on a large wood sculpture as part of the art in action exhibition.

Mrs. Mary Bixler will teach a class in sewing which will hold its first meeting in Room 11 at the high school on Tuesday. This class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:00 o'clock. Mrs. Bixler has had experience in sewing. She was a dressmaker for years in Kansas City. She worked as both fitter and supervisor for I. Magnin's in San Francisco and Los Angeles. For the past year she has had her own studio here, where she has given private sewing lessons.

New classes in Citizenship and Driver Training are being formed. The previous students in the citizenship class have completed their course and are now being called up for their final citizenship rights.

A sign-up for typing is being taken and when a sufficient number of people have registered a class will be started.

Radio and electricity will not re-open until enough adults have shown an interest in the class. It

Such A Collection System Our Glorious Government Has!

Absolutely the first in the traditional parade of post-Christmas bills was the "box rent due" notice that appeared in everybody's postoffice box promptly Monday morning.

And is the credit tight when you do business with the U. S. Government! The "rent" is delinquent January 1, less than a week after you are given notice. But, "Checks on the local banks will be accepted," says Postmaster Fred Mylar. "If people find the postoffice closed, they can mail in their rent, so their boxes won't be locked on Monday."

For this you would have to use a stamp. Our government gives us no credit worth mentioning, locks us out if we don't pay, and makes a profit (the stamp) when it collects.

Private business should be so smart!

For First Time In 20 Years They Won't Elect Andy Monday

When you feel the earthquake at 10:00 o'clock Monday morning, you'll know that its epicenter is the county courthouse in Salinas, in the supervisors' chambers. On this first meeting after January each year the supervisors "reorganize the board," and elect Andy Jacobsen chairman.

For 20 years they have elected Andy chairman.

Monday they will elect William Redding of King City.

Though Andy has tried to prepare everybody by making a public statement at this week's Monday meeting of the board, and passing the word around unofficially for months through King Mederos that he must cut down on his activities, it is still going to be a shock when the moment comes. And to make it really bad, Jacobsen told us he positively means it, he won't run for re-election when his term expires in 1956.

He's been a supervisor for 22 years and he's never missed a meeting of the board. He's proud of that. There are several other things to be proud of. The new courthouse in Salinas was built during his administration, and the county hospital, and the courthouse annex in Monterey was purchased, where every department is

Uranium Strike On Chews Ridge Is Not An Unmixed Blessing

Amateur and professional prospectors, toting Geiger counters and other uranium-detecting equipment, ranged over the rugged Chew's Ridge area of Los Padres Forest this week in what appears to be a small-scale but flourishing uranium rush.

Estimates of the number of prospectors currently engaged in the hunt for radioactive ore range from a few hundred to over 1,000. Over 20 mining claims have been filed with county recorder Emmet McMenamin since December 2, when first reports of a "strike" in Los Padres came from a Fresno prospector.

Most of the uranium hunters appeared to be concentrating on the area between Chew's Ridge and Tassajara Hot Springs, where several claims have already been staked. Others are beating the bush as far east as Jamesburg. Assays of rock taken out of the Chew's Ridge-Tassajara belt have

PADRES HOST PALMA HIGH NEXT TUESDAY AFTERNOON

After a two-week vacation from the hardwoods, the Carmel High varsity and lightweight basketball squads return to active competition next Tuesday afternoon when the hustling Palm High quintets invade the Carmel gym for a try at getting even with the local preps. On December 7th, the Carmel teams won a pair from Palma, the lightweights just barely edging the hard-trying Palma Babes, 26 to 24, and the Padre varsity finishing on top, 49 to 43. Since playing Carmel, Palma has made rapid strides in the varsity division, soundly trouncing San Lorenzo and making a good showing against the Santa Clara Freshmen. Led by Charley Garcia, a tiny sharpshooter who meshed 23 points in the first game, Palma has good shooting from the outside and controls the boards with a towering 6-4 center, Norm Finney. In the first meeting with Carmel, Garcia connected on his first five trys with all the shots taken from 20 feet or more. Only 5-3 and hardly 110 pounds when full of turkey, this classy little cage artist is the most colorful performer in local prep circles.

Carmel's lightweight squad, riding a four-game winning streak, will have their hands full with the Palma limiteds who made the going hot for the Little Padres last time. Two of Palma's top stars fouled out in the first game which saw the Padrecitos finish in front by a two-point margin. However, the Carmel lights have put together some solid basketball in all their games and have a strong desire to make it two in a row over the visitors from Salinas.

The Padre heavyweights went into a tailspin after winning from Palma and dropped decisions to King City and Live Oak as they ran into cold shooting streaks and were murdered in the rebound department. Minus the services of starting guard, Dick Jennings who underwent an eye operation, the Carmel varsity will open with a quintet of Gary Nielsen, George Wightman, Paul Fratessa, Mike Mosolf, and John Farrell. The lightweights will be with a starting five of Jim Konrad, Bill McCormack, Mark Hildebrand, Merv Sutton, and Ron Huffman. Lightweight game starts at 3:30.

SPORTS REVIEW AND PREVIEW

A look at the national sports scene in 1954 shows that television has done more than any other type of promotion to add fans to the sporting fraternity—there are more armchair quarterbacks and coaches who sit in the front room and second guess than there are in the stadiums, fight arenas, baseball parks, and basketball pavilions. The effect this new type fan has on sports in general is shown by the shifting of major league baseball teams, the clamor for big league baseball on the West Coast, the frantic pleas for help which you hear from the front offices of all the minor league baseball clubs, the uneasiness between the professional and college scheduling insofar as television is concerned, and the sudden influx of championship fights to the San Francisco area where they can be televised to the east without hurting the gate. Odoriferous rumblings have been emanating from the prize fight game as a mushrooming of boxing talent develops to satisfy the television demand for colorful gladiators. Just as basketball had to make a clean sweepdown of undesirable characters in 1953. It appears that the boxing game must be taken apart and analyzed for the termintes which threaten to scuttle this spectator sport. . . . Football in 1954 opened just about as it has in past years with the midwest representative to the Rose Bowl teaching the West Coast representative a gridiron lesson. However, UCLA made a good fight of it and wasn't disgraced while wilting under the terrific Michigan State power. That they learned their lesson well was later shown as the Uclans went on to an undefeated season during the regular season and were considered the best collegiate team in the nation at season's end. Best individual performance of the 1954 grid season was the methodical job Otto Graham did on the Detroit Lions as he led the Cleveland Browns to the professional championship. Biggest disappointment turned out to be the folderoo of the San Francisco 49ers who flopped miserably in the stretch drive and wound up in the ruck, costing Buck Shaw his job as head coach and elevating scout Red Strader to the top 49er post. . . . The World Series didn't seem the same without the familiar pinstripe suits of the New York Yankees on the TV screen, but the New York Giants did a Yankee-like job on the Cleveland Indians as they wiped out the Indians in four straight. . . . In track and field, the big news was the breaking of the four-minute mile barrier as both Bannister of England and Landy of Australia got under four minutes. American track and field officials became disturbed about the lack of really outstanding talent to represent the U.S.A. in the '56 Olympics. Word of a super track squad representing Russia has sent American coaches scurrying for a Bob Mathias or two. . . . The United States Davis Cup tennis team led by Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert did a good job on the Australians and finally brought the Davis Cup back to the U.S.A. . . .

A look ahead to 1955 finds the same familiar patter on January 1st as Ohio State teaches USC the rudiments of football in the Rose Bowl. This could turn into a rout unless Ohio State coach Woody Hayes decides to rein in the horses. In the East-West game at Kezar Stadium, the West should win another unless they run into too much star trouble. Last year's East team was heavily loaded with All-Americans but the West had the players with the desire to play football and as a result routed the fine East squad. . . . The World Series should be a one-city affair with the Yankees and Giants battling for the loot. Shrewd Yankee trading appears to have given Casey Stengel just what he needs for another American League pennant. . . . On the local

It Will Be American Trust Co. When Bank Opens Mon. Morning

When business closes today, the Monterey County Trust & Savings Bank will become part of American Trust Company.

Axel P. Holm, former president, who has been named vice president and manager at the Salinas Main Office, today announced that all principal officers of the bank have been elected officers of American Trust Company with the exception of A. C. Hughes, former board chairman, who is retiring as of December 31.

Holm also announced that the officers and members of the staff will continue in their present positions and that all employees have been placed in American Trust Retirement Plan.

Customers' Monterey County Bank checks will be honored until they can obtain American Trust Co. checkbooks. Business houses and individuals who have their names printed on the Monterey County Bank checks may continue to use them until the supply is exhausted.

American Trust Company is one of the oldest banks in the West and this year is celebrating its 100th Anniversary. It has resources totaling more than $1,250,000,000 and is one of the largest of the nation's 15,000 banks.

Commenting on the consolidation, James K. Lochead, president of American Trust Company, stated: "We are most happy to extend our banking facilities to the residents, business and agricultural interests of Monterey County. Now, in directly serving this area, we hope to continue to contribute to its development and bright future."

F. Concepcion

Felipe Concepcion, 57, a Carmel resident for the past 20 years, died December 23 in a local hospital after a brief illness.

He was born December 7, 1899, in the Philippine Islands, coming to this country as a young man. He moved to Carmel during the '30s, and since coming here had been employed in several local restaurants and hotels. His most recent job had been as a waiter at Whitney's Restaurant, where he had worked for several years.

Mr. Concepcion made his home here at Lincoln Street and Sixth Avenue, and was a member of the Carmel Mission parish. He also belonged to Filipino Community and to the local branch of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers' Union.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Perteua Concepcion, two daughters, Rosalina and Virginia, and a sister, Mrs. Adoracion C. Tan, all of the Philippines; and a brother, Don Concepcion of Carmel.

Funeral services were held Monday, with Msgr. Michael D. O'Connell officiating. Burial was in the Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at the Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 7-3881.

Charlotte Lynch

Mrs. Charlotte Merchant Lynch, 77, died December 26 at her home on Atherton Road and Mesa Drive. Though death was unexpected, she had been in failing health for some time.

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Lynch was born July 10, 1877, and received her education in the Bay Area. She and her husband, the late James P. Lynch, lived in Honolulu for many years. With his retirement from business in 1941, the couple returned from the Islands to San Francisco, where Mr. Lynch died in 1948.

Mrs. Lynch had made her home in Carmel for the past three years.

She leaves a brother, William Gladstone Merchant, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hopkins, both of San Francisco.

Funeral services were held Tuesday in San Francisco, with burial in Holy Cross Cemetery.

MARY JANES TO OPEN REMEDIAL READING CLINIC

A series of classes in remedial reading for children will be opened shortly after the first of the year by Mrs. Mary F. Janes of Carmel.

The classes, says Mrs. Janes, will be designed for normal children who are slow in reading. Speech correction and spelling will also be taught. Her reading clinic will strive to bring each child to the level of proficiency reached by his or her age group in school.

Mrs. Janes, whose husband, Lt. Col. Julius F. Janes, Jr., is now serving with the Army in Korea, has lived in Carmel for several years, on and off, and has two children attending Sunset School. She spent 14 years teaching elementary school in Cleveland, Ohio, and has specialized in remedial reading work for many years. She formerly operated a remedial reading clinic in Marin County similar to the Carmel clinic soon to be opened.

Ralph Castle To Lecture Here On Christian Science

The practical application of the spiritual truths taught in the Bible to sickness, insecurity and other problems of daily living will be the topic of a Christian Science lecture to be given here January 9 by Ralph Castle of San Francisco.

On nation-wide tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Castle will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Carmel, California, in New Church Edifice, Monte Verde at Sixth, Carmel, at 3:00 p.m. His subject will be Christian Science: The Law Governing True Self-Expression.

A newspaperman for many years, Mr. Castle held various editorial positions and also served as Pacific Coast Advertising Manager of The Christian Science Monitor before resigning to enter the public practice of Christian Science in 1934. He has been a student of Christian Science since 1914, when he was healed in Christian Science of a physical ailment which had been considered incurable. He is an authorized public practitioner of Christian Science healing, and has been a Christian Science lecturer since 1947.

The Needler

By Beth

Wonder how many people in town go to the post office every day. Do you? I know I don't. (Unless I am expecting a check, which is mighty seldom.) Anyway, a local man who had been in Oregon on a business trip wrote a rather important letter to his wife. He was afraid, knowing her habits, that she wouldn't go to the P.O. and get the letter in time, so he addressed it to Paul McKinstry at the Carmel Grocery and asked that it be delivered with the groceries. And so it was.

And speaking of the post office, there was a man in the local one during the Christmas rush and all he wanted to buy was a three cent stamp. He went to the parcel post window and was told, in effect, no soap. No one at the first stamp window and the only thing to do was to stand at the end of a long line in front of the only window doing business. Finally, his patience wore thin and, tearing up the letter he had in his hand, he threw the fragments on the floor and muttered as he stomped out: "I'll mail the blankety-blank thing myself!"

You know how a plumber always arrives without his tools? Well, a certain gentleman arrived in Carmel without a camera. He was staying at La Playa and wanted one to take pictures of some children, relatives of his. He then goes to a local camera shop and asks to rent one and was there a deposit necessary. The owner looked at him, thought he remembered his face from somewhere or other. "Name?" he asks. "Walt Disney," was the reply.

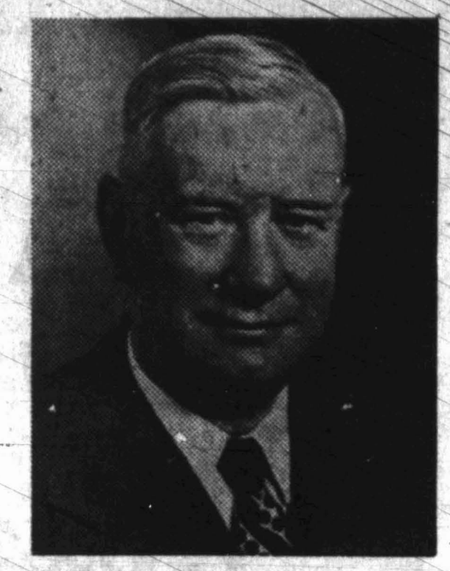
Received a thing through the mail the other day concerning the Anglo-American Phonetic alphabet and it explains that since "the mastery of the a, b, c's of our language is a fading tradition" something new has been evolved. Many of the characters I cannot explain to you because they have strange curliques on them which I am sure are not included in any of the fonts of our typesetting machines. However, to give you an idea, girdle is gerdl; gist is jist; glacier is glasyer; glance is glans; general is jeneral; germ is jerm. Simpler? Well. . . . .



Monterey County's representative in the state legislature, Senator Fred Weybret, will leave this weekend for Sacramento and the opening of the 1955 legislative session next Monday. Senator Weybret, who will begin his 17th year in the legislature, has been a member of five standing committees and was chairman of the agriculture committee.

Firemen's Benefit Provides Hilarious Highlands Fling

The biggest firemen's benefit Christmas party in Carmel Highlands' history bulged the walls of the Highlands Firehouse Wednesday, as over a hundred adults, augmented by scores of children of all ages and sizes, jammed the little fire station's general room and garage for an evening of neighborly good cheer, games, and gourmandizing.

Highlands housewives contributed a mouth-watering array of comestibles to the potluck supper which had hungry guests queuing up for firsts, seconds and even thirds until late in the evening. There were casseroles of every description, from oysters to artichokes to tamale pie, salads, and enough different pies, cakes and cookies to put an ache in any sweet tooth.

For the children, there was the traditional pinata game—only this year, anticipating the crowd, three candy-filled, gaily decorated pinatas were provided instead of just one. As young Ben Chaffey, home on leave from his Coast Guard post at Fort Bragg, manipulated the rope-and-pulley arrangement contolling the pinatas, blindfolded youngsters took wild swipes with a stout shillelagh to yells of encouragement from onlookers. When a lucky blow connected, swarms of kids scrambled over the firehouse floor to collect the spilled goodies. After the pinatas, there was "pin the mustache on Santa Claus", with more attendant hilarity.

Apart from being a great good time, the party enriched the fire department's kitty far beyond the modest expectations of the committee, headed by Mrs. R. P. Douglas, which organized the affair. Entertainment for the youngsters was arranged and pinatas made by Mrs. Russell Williams and Mrs. Laidlaw Williams, while the children themselves were responsible for cutting the greens, hanging the decorations and generally providing the holiday atmosphere in the firehouse. Directing the hard-working kitchen crew were Mrs. Seizo Kodani, wife of the Highlands' fire chief, Mrs. Hal Boyd, and Mrs. Robert Self. And everybody who came contributed something, one way or another.

HESSES WELCOME A GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hess became the parents of a baby girl on December 21 at Peninsula Hospital. The young miss has been named Laura Lee.

Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee of Salinas will take his seat in the lower house of the State Legislature on Monday along with 119 other members, 15 of whom, like himself, will be freshmen legislators. Pattee, who will take his oath of office Monday from Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan at the state capitol in Sacramento, was elected in November for a two-year term succeeding James W. Silliman. The Monterey County Assemblyman will rate a private office and will be appointed to serve on numerous committees as soon as the Assembly has organized officially.

MARIS OPENS OFFICE HERE

On Monday, Maris Van and Storage Company of Monterey will open a new Carmel branch office in Los Cortes Building on Dolores beteween Fifth and Sixth.

The company, owned by J. M. Mulloy and Mrs. P. E. Maris of Monterey, is agent for Lyon Van and Storage Company and Republic Van Lines, and offers nationwide and local moving, storage, packing and crating. The main office in Monterey is located at 411 Del Monte Avenue.

MONTEREY COUNTY TRUST & SAVINGS BANK

will become

AMERICAN TRUST COMPANY

American Trust Company is pleased to extend its banking services to Monterey County where for many years it has enjoyed a close relationship with the Monterey County Trust & Savings Bank.

We have long believed that the natural resources, strategic location and progressive spirit of Monterey County indicate a future of continuing growth and opportunity. Now, in directly serving this area we hope to contribute constructively to that future through the facilities of our new offices at Salinas, Alisal, Valley Center, Castroville, Monterey, Carmel, Gonzales, Greenfield and King City.

American Trust Company is a pioneer California banking institution and is this year celebrating the 100th Anniversary of its founding in 1854.

We look forward to maintaining the same fine record of public service established by Monterey County Trust & Savings Bank and cordially invite you to use our complete banking facilities.

Our nine offices in Monterey County represent a major addition to our closely connected system of banking offices which serve the financial needs of the Northern California area. In each community, American Trust Company offers the convenience and friendliness of a home town business, combined with the complete facilities of a metropolitan bank.

Shadows In Silver Kocher Pictorial Just Published

Connoisseurs of photography, architecture and Americana will find a work of rare artistry in Shadows in Silver, a pictorial record of people, plantations, towns and cities of Virginia in the years 1850-1900, by A. Lawrence Kocher and Howard Dearstyne.

This handsome volume, just published by Charles Scribners' Sons, comprises scores of excellent and hitherto unpublished pictures taken from old negatives, wet plates and daguerrotypes from the famous family of master-photographers, George Cook and his sons LaGrange and Huestis Cook.

Shadows in Silver includes biographies of George and Huestis Cook and is divided into several well-organized photographic essays, each accompanied by intelligent and deftly-written text and captions. Sections of the book deal variously with Towns, Taverns and Country Stores, depicting the rural scene; Plantations and the Countryside, showing many of the magnificent ante-bellum estates such as Westover, Rosewall and Tuckahoe in addition to many smaller examples of indigenous architecture of interesting character, and illustrations of the agricultural activities around the plantations; and The People, a section which includes some rare photos of old-time beaux and belles, fashions, pastimes, education, and society at the spas and in the cities.

Mr. Kocher, brother of Dr. R. L. Kocher of Carmel, and Mr. Dearstyne were collaborating architects on the restorations of Williamsburg in Virginia. Both are now professors in the school of architecture at the College of William and Mary.

Christmas in Seoul was the lot of Lt. Col. Leonard Amoroso, who is serving as assistant general manager in charge of the engineering division of the Third Transportation Railway Command in Korea. However, the colonel's holiday away from home was enlivened by a Christmas package from his wife, Edith, and his two sons, who live in Hatton Fields. Col. and Mrs. Amoroso moved to Carmel in September just prior to his leaving for overseas, having originally hailed from Massachusetts and resided in Florida and Kansas. Col, Amoroso, a World War II veteran, attended Norwich University before entering the Army in 1942.

World Affairs Group Sponsors Lecture On Southeast Asia

Strains in Southeast Asia is the subject to be discussed at next Thursday night's public meeting of the World Affairs Council of Monterey Peninsula. Dr. Robert Blum, president of the Asia Foundation, will report on the situation as speaker. He has just returned from visiting Indonesia, Burma, Thailand, Indochina, Hong Kong, Singapore, the Philippines and Japan . . . and, with previous years of experience in American relations with the nations across the far Pacific, he can speak with authority on the path to be explored in years immediately ahead.

The meeting will be in the Parish Hall of All Saints Episcopal Church, Carmel; the date, Thursday, January 6, at 8:00 o'clock. After the main address, there will be a question period open to members of the audience. There is no admission charge, and the public is invited.

Clinton Owen

Clinton Genet Owen, a Carmel resident since his retirement from business in the '30s, died Monday morning in a local hospital where he had been under treatment for three days. He was 73, and had been in poor health for some time.

Born September 15, 1881, in East Orange, New Jersey, Mr. Owen spent much of his life in Honolulu, where he served as general manager of the Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Company. In 1937, two years after his retirement from active business life, he moved to Carmel, building a home on Carmelo and Seventh streets. He was a member of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Robb Owen of Carmel; a son, Hillfort Craft Owen of Tampa, Florida; a sister, Mrs. Bessie Miles of Tampa; a brother, Charles Craft Owen of Cape Cod, Massachusetts; and three grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. Angus Dun, Jr., officiating.

ALL-PARISH LUNCHEON

The first Women's All-Parish Luncheon will be held Thursday in the parish house of All Saints' Episcopal Church. Corporate communion will be held at 10:30 o'clock, followed by a brief program and lunch at noon. Reservations for the lunch should be made not later than Tuesday, and may be secured by calling All Saints' Church office.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

At this last week of the year it might be well to pause for a few moments and ask what the real meaning of conservation is. Are the efforts of all those dedicated people who are working in the different fields of natural resources worth while? What would happen if no road blocks were thrown in the way of those commercially minded people who would like to use our forests and rivers and lands for their own gain?

Prof. Paul B. Sears, Chairman of The Conservation Program of Yale University, has written a thoughtful little leaflet entitled, What Worth Wilderness? In it he tells a story about an American commander in eastern Europe who "gave permission to the cold and hungry people of a city to help themselves to the trees in their ancient forest-park. This they refused to do and the hard-headed general was deeply moved by their decision".

Undoubtedly this was a matter of both sentiment and good hard common sense. It was good proof that those two motives can mingle in an old civilization that has had time to think the problem through and to weigh carefully the consequences of the unbridled use of community resources. In this decision there was involved both reverence for the land and a knowledge of the real source of income.

I heard recently about a group of wealthy lumbermen in an eastern state who clubbed together and bought for their own pleasure a large piece of primeval wilderness, one of the few remaining in the East, because it reminded them of the joys of their boyhood experiences in these surroundings. How different that action was from the refusal of the lumber company that owns the beautiful Butano Forest of redwoods in San Mateo County to sell it to the State Park Commission for anything like a reasonable price! Thus the struggle between commercialization and sentiment goes on.

Complete commercialization leads undoubtedly to a mechanized and artificial civilization, entirely engulfing the natural. Population pressure is continually building up strong demands in that direction. The question that the nation must decide, and that would probably be decided wrongly if it were not for the warnings constantly being given out by the various conservation groups, is whether we can control our desire for private gain and subordinate it to the advancement of the higher ideals, both in the spiritual and economic spheres, of the greater good for the greater number.

Final Reading For Dectective Story

Final reading for Detective Story, the next play to be presented by the Guildhall Players of the Forest Theater, has been announced for Tuesday by Cole Weston, director. It will be held at 8:00 o'clock in the Guildhall at the Forest Theater. No parts have been cast and players will not be notified until after the Tuesday reading.

Any person interested in acting, directing or in technical stage work is urged to attend. Readings for the next scheduled plays, My Heart Is In The Highlands and Three Men On a Horse, as well as others, will be held soon. The Guild is interested in meeting as many actors, directors and stagehands as possible.

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

Well . . . Sunday night we got the first blast of winter. The weather man warned us that frost was imminent, and sure enough he was right. I have a thermometer in my garden in the shape of a datura tree, and Monday morning when I peeped out, there it stood, its leaves collapsed, its color a dirty grey. Poof! It had gone by the way.

It is odd that tender looking plants like petunia, nemesia and stock are unaffected by a light frost, and the datura, seeming to be so studry a tree, always gets knocked down. This is no surprise to me, since the same thing has happened year after year and I no longer grieve over the datura. She may have had a shock, but come the Spring, that datura will lift itself up and start all over again.

The branches that are now frosted will never come back, but from the roots will spring new growth, and nothing grows as quickly or as sturdily as the datura. So don't give up hope if you have had bad luck, for life is eternal in this plant. As soon as I can get around to it, I shall cut the branches down right to the ground and almost before I know it, new green life will appear.

This cold snap is good for bulbs that are now waiting to sprout. Holland, from where most of our choice bulbs come, is a cold country and Dutch bulbs transplanted to our climate benefit from frost.

If you have planted ranunculus bulbs, be sure to protect them with a wire netting. No one knows just why, but birds from miles away will come flying toward any new ranunculus that are just sprouting and nip the tender leaves. No other plants around will be cut back; there must be something wonderful for birds in this bulb.

Anemone bulbs, planted right beside ranunculus will not be bothered, but be sure you protect the latter, for I know of no other bulb that becomes a "bird cafeteria". When bulbs begin to show small green sprouts, it is a good time to fertilize. Any good fish meal, or fish emulsion is excellent for bulbs. If you are still in the process of planting bulbs, be sure to scatter bone meal generously in the soil.

Happy New Year to all our gardens.

It's Mr. and Mrs. Monohan Now

Married in San Diego early this month were Carmel actor-playwright Michael A. Monohan and the former Sherry Marie Rodgers of Los Angeles.

Mike, who is serving a two-year hitch in the chaplain department at the Naval Training Center in San Diego, claimed his bride on December 4 at Immaculate Conception Church, with Fr. James Anderson officiating. The couple, who became engaged this summer, are making their home in San Diego until March, when Mike will receive his Navy discharge and plans to return with Mrs. Monohan to Carmel.

The bride's home has been with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Forten, in Los Angeles, where she attended St. Cecilia's School and U.C.L.A. Like her husband, she has been active in theatre work, having appeared in several productions at the Old Globe Theatre in San Diego in recent months. She and Mike met during the summer of 1953 at a cast party for the Old Globe Theatre group which staged Mister Roberts, one of several Globe productions in which Mike has played.

Mike is the son of Mrs. Bruce Monohan of Carmel, who was among those present for the wedding ceremony and reception. A 1948 graduate of Carmel High, Mike attended the University of Santa Clara and made one of his early stage appearances as Matthew in the Santa Clara Passion Play. Mike entered the Navy following his college graduation in 1952.

Locally, Mike made a name for himself as one of the founders of the Three-Ring Theatre along with Ric Masten and Don Adams, with whom he worked on the original musicals This Is It, That's the Ticket and What the Dickens, presented at the Forest Theatre and the Golden Bough Playhouse. His Navy work has left him spare time for stage work in San Diego, both in camp and benefit shows and with little theatre groups such as the Globe and the San Diego Drama Guild. He plans to turn to professional theatre work following his discharge.

Standing up with Mike and Sherry at the wedding ceremony were Miss Jan Golus and Leon Burton, both of San Diego, the latter of whom appeared with Mike in Mister Roberts. The bride was given away by Bruce Torbet of the Globe Theatre. The reception took place at the Ocean Beach home of Don Lyons, a Santa Clara classmate of Mike's, after which the newlyweds went to La Jolla for a honeymoon.

Inwoods to Yosemite

Christmas in snowy Yosemite was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Inwood and their daughter, Jeanne Inwood of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Jean Pierre Kunstle. The party left for the mountains early Christmas morning, having participated in the traditional Christmas Eve celebration at the Inwoods' Friday night, and returned to the Peninsula on Monday. Yosemite Valley, they reported, was beautiful but icy, perfect for skating, while skiing was good at Badger Pass.

Paynes Return from East

Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Payne flew home in time for Christmas weekend after enjoying a two-week trip in the east. In New York City, Mr. Payne attended the annual sales meeting of Reynolds & Company, with which he is associated as co-manager of the Carmel office. Before returning to Carmel, the Paynes also visited with friends in Washington, D.C.

Family Gathers at Jenkins

Christmas brought family members from far and wide to the Matthew Jenkinses. Home for the holidays are Camilla Canfield and George Canfield, Mrs. Jenkins' daughter and son; Camilla is on vacation from Chadwick School in Southern California, while her brother recently returned from Paris, where he has been studying at the Sorbonne.

Temporarily staying with the Jenkinses are Mr. Jenkins' daughter and son-in-law, Barbara and Mark Mills. Mark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mills of Bisbee, Arizona, are occupying the younger Mills' home over the holidays. Also home is Barbara's brother, Peter Jenkins, a student at Bellarmine Prep School. Mrs. Louisa Jenkins of Big Sur, Barbara's mother, was here for the holidays with the Mills, but left this week for a tour of Europe.

Ted Brings Earthquake Report

Christmas was special this year for the C. Edward Graves. Their son Ted, daughter-in-law Barbara Jeanne, whom everybody calls "B. J.", and their children, Nedra Jeanne and Shirley Anne, arrived here the day before Christmas Eve, contrary to custom, which decrees Thanksgiving here, Christmas with B. J.'s parents in Eureka. The Ted Graves had a short visit in Eureka before coming to Carmel, and caught the big shake on December 21, saw their new television set B. J.'s parents had given them go crashing to the floor, plaster crack in the walls, glasses fall off the shelves, and the other alarms and excitements that accompany a typical medium-hard native quake. The T. V. is under repair and will be mailed to them in Mt. Shasta, where the younger Graves live and Ted teaches science subjects in the high school.

Ted reported that there has already been 14 inches of snow at Mt. Shasta, which had melted before they left, but while he was here, his friends in Mt. Shasta reported via radio (Ted's a ham and has a short wave set in his car) that snow had begun to fall again Sunday.

Monday Ted took off with his family for Berkeley to attend the national meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

New Eagle for Col. Hazeltine

Full colonelcy was attained just before the Christmas holiday by former Lt. Col. Charles B. Hazeltine, Jr., who is the son of Colonel C. B. Hazeltine. Col. Hazeltine, Jr., now serves in the office of Chief of Army Field Forces at Fort Monroe, Virginia; he and his wife, Rebecca, make their home in Belfast, Maryland.

A native of San Antonio, Texas, Col. Hazeltine graduated from West Point with the class of 1940 and subsequently served in the China-Burma-India Theatre during World War II, returning to West Point in 1946 as a tactical officer. In 1949 he was again assigned to the Far East, serving overseas for two years before taking a new post with the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff at the Pentagon. His current position with the Combat Developments section of OCAFF commenced in August.

In addition to his new eagle and service ribbons, Col. Hazeltine is entitled to wear the Silver Star and Bronze Star medals and the Combat Infantry Badge.

Parties, Parties, Parties

With Christmas commitments and responsibilities behind and the kids happily preoccupied with their new toys, parties in the adult set have been springing up like mushrooms after a rain. From Jack's Peak to Partington Ridge, the welcome mat was out as families greeted friends for buffets, cocktails, dinners, New Year's celebrations or just quiet evenings around the still-green Christmas tree, with maybe an eggnog or two.

Open-houses, friendly calls and small family parties kept nearly everyone busy Christmas Day, then there was a day of grace to rest up and brace for a week of pre-New Year's dos. Things got rolling Monday night, when Mr. and Mrs. Manfield Crane had a number of friends by for cocktails. Dr. Ernest Stratton found that it would take more than one party to accommodate his many friends, so entertained with cocktails for different shifts on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Webster Street welcomed over 50 friends to their home for a gala holiday buffet and cocktail party on Wednesday evening. Wednesday night was also the occasion for an early evening hot-buttered rum party at the home of Miss Arlene Turi, among whose guests were former Bach Festival concertmaster Ervin Mautner and his charming bride, down from San Francisco.

Thursday night found Col. and Mrs. Alfred Balsam of Carmel Highlands greeting a number of friends for a cheery evening open-house, invitations to which instructed guests to "bring a gift and get a gift". Pete and Janine Johnston also entertained Thursday night, asking a good-sized crowd to their place in Carmel, while Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dienelt held forth with another party at their home in Carmel Valley.

And tonight, it's New Year's Eve. Many couples will be entertaining small groups or holding no-host parties at various restaurants and hotels, but there'll be a good share of at-home parties as well. The Monte Vista home of John and Peggy Short will be the scene of a large open-house whingding, with guests coming up from the Highlands and the Sur as well as from Carmel, Monterey and elsewhere. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kvenild will entertain a large party for cocktails and buffet at their home in the Mission Tract, while Francis and Friedy Heisler have invited a number of friends to their home in the Highlands to welcome in 1955. Capt. and Mrs. H. N. Coulter will have a good-sized group, Navy and otherwise, at their home on Portola and San Lucas, while Dr. and Mrs. Chester Vanderburgh will entertain at their home in the Valley.

Tomorrow afternoon, the Mark Thomases will entertain a large group of Carmel and Valley folk at a big New Year's Day open house. Another open-house celebration will be held at the Francis Palmer home in Carmel. And the Bob McGinnises will have their traditional TV party, with a houseful of friends due to come by to watch the Rose Bowl game. Which is just what a lot of other people plan to do, too.

Reception for Marcia and Peter

Some 60 guests were welcomed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Danelz in Hatton Fields Tuesday afternoon at a holiday open-house honoring the Danelz' daughter, Marcia, and her fiance, Peter Lyon, whose engagement was announced earlier this month.

The future benedict's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lyon, were among the guests at the cocktail and buffet affair, held from 4:00 to 6:00 o'clock. Also present were a number of Peter's and Marcia's friends and former Carmel High classmates who are home from college for the holidays.

The young couple plan to be married early next summer, following Marcia's graduation from Stanford. Meanwhile Peter, a Stanford grad himself, will continue his studies in the Russian department of the Army Language School.

Miss Olson Visits

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Turner for Christmas dinner last Saturday were the Reuben Johnsons and sons Doug, Kent and Roddy; Mrs. Rika Johnson and Harold Johnson of Los Angeles; Mrs. Lillian Lueck and Miss Betty Ann Lueck of San Fernando Valley; and Miss Elsa Jane Olson of Anchorage, Alaska.

Miss Olson, a cousin of Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Turner, is spending the holidays here with the two families while on vacation from her studies at the Music and Arts Institute in San Francisco.

Slide Show for Woman's Club

Claude T. Faw will present an illustrated lecture entitled Along the Camino Real, a valuation of our state through the lens of the camera, for the meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club Book Section Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

A native Californian, Mr. Faw was born in Gonzales and until his recent retirement from business was representative of a steel manufacturer. He and Mrs. Faw have lived in Carmel for 10 years, and have made historical research of the California missions and the King's Highway.

Mrs. Milton Shutes will be guest chairman of the meeting. Tea will be served to members and their guests by Mrs. Arthur Clay, chairman, Mrs. Fred Kane, co-chairman, and their committee.

Yule in South for Gileses

After closing up the Youth Center for Christmas weekend, Jack and Bonnie Giles drove down to Pasadena to spend the holiday with his mother, Mrs. Janet Giles, and brother Lex.

Before the Giles left they were corraled by Youth Center members and presented with their Christmas gifts — a handsome sports shirt for Jack, and an electric-blue sweater for Bonnie. Long-suffering Jack was also subjected to his annual gag present, which he opened with considerable apprehension remembering last year's gift of a fancy corset. Under the eyes of the amused kids, Jack unpacked a barrelful of intricately wrapped rocks, dirt, mouldy apples, oranges and the like, finally reaching a perfectly acceptable box of cigars.

This weekend, the Youth Center having had its big New Year's do last night, the Giles will head for San Francisco to take in the big East-West game.

Carole Byers Engaged

A Spring wedding is the plan of Carole Elise Byers and Michael Farrell, who announced their engagement Sunday at a post-Christmas cocktail party held at the home of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Ann Byers, in Rancho Aguajito.

Over 30 guests, most of them old friends of Carole and her family, were present for the engagement party. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Erik Short (Carlene Daniels) and the bride's brother, Roger, all of whom came down from Berkeley and U.C. Carlene, a close friend and former Carmel High schoolmate of Carole's, will be matron of honor at the wedding.

June 18 is the date for the nuptials, which will take place on the Peninsula following Carole's and Michael's graduation from Monterey Peninsula College. They hope to remain in Carmel for the summer, and plan to enroll next fall at the University of California, where Carole will major in sociology and Michael in pre-law.

A native Carmelite, Carol attended Sunset School and in 1953 graduated from Carmel High, where she was a member of California Scholarship Federation, Leaders' Club, a song leader and representative to Girls' State, in addition to serving as secretary to the Coast Counties Athletic League. Now in her second year at M.P.C., Carole is a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, national junior college honorary society. Her father, the late Laud Byers, was a noted engineer and inventor.

The future benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Farrell, who moved to Carmel last year from Okinawa, following Mr. Farrell's retirement as a civil engineer in the Far East. Michael was graduated from Okinawa High School, where he was president of both the student body and student council. Before coming to Carmel and entering M.P.C. this fall, he attended Van Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, New York, where he was affiliated with Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He has one brother, John, a senior at Carmel High.

Abernethys' Guests

Christmas Day at the John Abernethys' found 11 guests seated around the table. Sharing in the holiday dinner were Mrs. Abernethy's sister, Mrs. Charles Faser of San Jose, General and Mrs. C. V. Haynes, Dr. and Mrs. George Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Force, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kubly of Anchorage, Alaska.

Woolvertons May Move North

Christmas cards from Mr. and Mrs. Ron Woolverton (Janet Graft), now living in North Hollywood, yield the information that these two Carmel High alums are busy working, going to school and riding herd on small daughter, Vicki. Ron, Janet and the baby may be moving up in this direction soon, as Ron is thinking possibly of attending college someplace in Northern California. In any event, they plan to be in Carmel shortly after the first of the year to visit Ron's grandmother, Mrs. Thomas L. Davis, and Janet's uncle, Earl Graft.

Glasers Holiday at Home

The James Glasers, who have been visiting in Lake Forest, Illinois, returned home to spend Christmas on the Peninsula. Joining the Glasers at their home in Pebble Beach for the Yule holiday were their two daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Cash of Oakland and Capt. and Mrs. Hartley C. Dewey of Sacramento, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Glaser of Kentfield.

Missing from the family gathering were the John Winnetts (Peggy Glaser), who left earlier this month for Paris to spend the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Paul Barrelet de Ricou.

GOV. KNIGHT TO UTILIZE S-D DAY DIRECTORS

In a letter of appreciation to Paul McKinstry for his work as local chairman for S-D Day, this week Governor Knight said that he has instructed his Traffic Safety Committee to explore the possibilities of a master traffic safety plan for the state and "I have asked that such a plan provide for utilization of the S-D Day Directors' organization.

"I hope that when the plan is announced you will see fit to cooperate as enthusiastically and generously as you did in the S-D Day program."

Co. Planning Board Requested To Take Stand On Freeway

The Monterey County Planning Commission, meeting Tuesday in Salinas, was tacitly requested to make a positive recommendation on one of the two routes proposed for the controversial Carmel Freeway.

Claude T. Faw of Carmel, representing the Monterey Peninsula Highway Advisory Committee, presented the commission with the results of an objective survey of the two proposed routes recently made by the committee. Faw, who is also highway chairman for the central coast section of the State Chamber of Commerce, told the Pine Cone that the Highway Advisory Committee hopes that the planning commission will make a recommendation before the forthcoming public hearing on the freeway on either the Highway 1 route, adopted by the State Highway Commission, or on the alternate Hatton Canyon route, favored

CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The fact that no disability or discord is beyond the healing power of God will be stressed at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God" will include the account, as given in the seventh chapter of Luke's Gospel, of Christ Jesus' healing of the centurion's servant who was "sick, and ready to die."

The following will be among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When man is governed by God, the ever-present Mind who understands all things, man knows that with God all things are possible" (180:25-27).

The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy (6:4): "Hear, O Israel, The Lord our God is one Lord."

Geisens at Squaw Valley

The John Geisens are spending the holiday at their place in Squaw Valley, along with Mrs. Geisen's son, "Loch" Lowman, and finding the early skiing just about perfect. Also with the group are Mrs. Geisen's mother, Mrs. Howard Vincent O'Brien, and daughters, Joan and Heather Hamilton. The party will be augmented this weekend by the Jennison Heatons who are looking forward to a New Year's in the snow. They'll all be back to Carmel early next week.

Sport Notes—

sport scene, the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament, January 14-15-16 will be the big sporting event of the year with nothing but good coming from this great golf extravaganza. . . . Monterey Peninsula College is still shopping for a new football coach to replace Jim Tidwell who resigned following a disappointing season and a heartbreaking loss to arch-rival Hartnell on Thanksgiving Day. MPC officials have made an offer to Dick Voris, ex-LA. Ram assistant coach, who is pondering the offer. However, the Lobos need go no further than Watsonville to get the answer to their grid problems. Emmett Geiser, the old fox who has guided the Wildcats to championship after championship in the rugged CCAL, has all the qualifications that any junior college could possibly require. He is a deft handler of football players, a terrific organizer, an astute offensive and defensive coach, and teaches the game of football as it should be taught—for the good of the players and with high sportsmanship ideals. Yes, a quick phone call to Watsonville might easily clear up the Lobo coaching situation, and, who knows, Coach Emmett is used to beating teams from Salinas. . . . Next big sporting event on the Peninsula following Bing's Clambake is the Carmel High Invitational Basketball Tournament slated for March 3-4-5. This year's cagefest should be the best ever with strong teams from each section. Results from the Santa Clara Valley League show that Fremont High or Sunnyvale is the power up that way and they'll be on hand for another shot at the Carmel Tourney trophies. Gustine has their best team in recent years and is favored in the San Joaquin League. Monterey, Gilroy, King City, and Pacific Grove are all title threats so the action should be hot and exciting in this year's tournament.

CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The City of Carmel-by-the-Sea will accept sealed bids in the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Monte Verde Street between Ocean Avenue and Seventh, up to 5 o'clock P. M. on Wednesday, January 5, 1955, for the purchase of the Salvage Truck, a 1931, 1½ ton, Model C Ford, which may be inspected at the Firehouse.

DATED this 27th day of December, 1954.

PETER MAWDSLEY,
City Clerk

Date of Publication: Dec. 31, 1954.

Daniels' Telephone Party

A Christmas Eve reunion in the east of several Carmel High classmates led to a cross-country telephone party last Friday night, emanating from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Daniels.

The Daniels' eldest daughter, Joan, had notified her family that she, Stephen and Nancy Whitaker, Mike Dormody and Mike's sister, Pamela Dormody, would be gathering Christmas Eve at the home of a friend in Newcastle, Delaware. The Daniels decided to wish the group a Merry Christmas by phone, and invited Stephen's parents, the Francis Whitakers, to come over and share in the fun, which they did. There resulted a coast-to-coast conversation, with half-a-dozen eager parties on each end of the line. The Dormodys were also invited for the telephone party but had to decline because of previous commitments. However, they got in touch with Mike and Pamela by phone on Christmas Day.

Joan, Stephen, Mike and Pamela all graduated from Carmel High, the first three in the same class. Both Joan and Pamela now live and work in New York, the former in advertising and the latter with the Rockefeller Foundation. Stephen and his wife make their home in Elkton, Maryland, and commute daily over to Newark, Delaware, where Nancy works and Stephen is doing graduate work in chemistry on a science fellowship at the University of Delaware. And Mike, who just returned from a Navy cruise in the Mediterranean, is on holiday leave from his ship, the USS Coral Sea, which is in port at Norfolk, Virginia. Mike expected to spend New Year's weekend in New York with his sister, and hopes to be home on leave next month. Also on carrier duty with the Navy is Mike's brother, Pat, who is somewhere in the vicinity of Hongkong aboard the USS Yorktown. His wife and two sons are here in Carmel.

Ganns In Sun & Snow

The ski runs at Aspen are getting a good workout from the Ernest Ganns and their children George, Steven and Polly, who set out before Christmas for a holiday stay at the Colorado resort. Eschewing snow for desert, the George Ganns spent Christmas in Palm Springs, and will drive over to Las Vegas for the New Year's weekend.

Bob Goodwin Visits

Former Carmelite Bob Goodwin, who lived here several years ago when he worked as an engineer with a local architectural firm, spent Christmas weekend in town with Mr. and Mrs. Spiers Ruskell and their three children and his own son, Paul, who lives with the Ruskells.

Bob also took advantage of the visit to look up a number of old friends, among them George and Loll Willox. The friendship between Bob and George originated, in Honolulu, where both at one time worked in the same office. Bob and George were two of a foursome playing tennis on the morning of December 7, 1941. Bob likes to tell how their game was interrupted by a Jap shell fragment hitting the corner of the court, and how one member of their foursome, a cynical fellow, regarded this phenomenon sourly, then commented "There's some more of that propaganda."

Bells Visit Son

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Bell have just returned home after spending a few days in Southern California with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bell (Carol Bedau) and two grandsons David and Kenneth.

Dan and Carol are both former Carmelites and graduates of Carmel High. They and their sons now reside in Temple City, where Dan is a high school teacher.

The Potters' Christmas

For the first time, Mr. and Mrs. Zenas Potter had their three daughters and all seven of their grandchildren with them for Christmas.

Here from Paris to spend the holidays with the Potters are Mr. and Mrs. Anatol Chelnov and their two children Michael 8, and Sandra 4. Mrs. Chelnov, the former Jean Potter, is the author of Alaska Under Arms and Flying North, the latter of which her publishers, McMillan, plan to re-release in a new edition shortly. A former Fortune Magazine staffer, Jean has also done considerable writing for French publications since living in Paris.

Also with the Potters were Mrs. Margaret Potter Hensel of Carmel and her children Peter and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Bruce (Constance Potter) of Palo Alto and their three, Carolyn 8, David 6, and Deborah 3.

Representing the older generation at the family reunion were Dr. Mary L. Benton of Oakland, Mrs. Potter's aunt, who is over 90, along with her friend, Miss Alice Sanderson. In addition, there was Mr. Bruce's aunt, Mrs. Amy Bumsted of Berkeley, and Mr. Potter's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Johnson of Los Altos. Completing the picture was the Bruces' boxer, Suzy, who took a doggy delight in the Christmas festivity.

Jean Chelnov and the two children will remain here with her parents while Mr. Chelnov attends to business in the east. By the time he returns, Michael and Sandra will probably have a firm grasp of the American vernacular. On their arrival, they spoke only French, which led to some gaps in verbal understanding between them and their young cousins.

Stantons Visit at Palm Springs

The Robert Stantons and their children Shannah, Sue and Mike left early this week for Southern California and a holiday at Palm Springs. The Stanton family will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hope for New Year's Day; comedian Hope will be flying home from Greenland, where he will stage a special New Year's program for servicemen. The Stantons will return to their home in the Valley in time for Shannah, Sue and Mike to make classes at Carmel High Monday morning.

"Sunshine" Heron's Home

Ebullient Bert Heron returned home Tuesday from Sacramento, where he spent Christmas with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Heron, and grandchildren Steven, Laurie and Patty.

Bert reports that of all the gifts exchanged on Christmas Day, his was the most appreciated. It was, he claims, a suitcase-full of crisp, fresh Carmel sunshine which he packaged here, carried up on the plane with him and released bright and early Christmas morn, to the delight of pallid Sacramentans who for two solid weeks had seen nothing but damp, dreary fog.

Collins-Adams Reunion

Mrs. Walter C. Adams and her sister Miss Charlotte Collins collaborated over Christmas to entertain several local and out-of-town members of their family here for the holidays. Guests included their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Collins of Sanger, and the Collinses' two sons, and Mrs. Adams' son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Walter C. Adams, Jr., who came down from Oakland along with their four youngsters. Joining the party were Mr. and Mrs. Don Adams, whose quartet of children helped contribute to the holiday gaiety.

Uranium Strike On Chews Ridge Is Not An Unmixed Blessing

conflicted as to the commercial value of the uranium ore.

The filing of claims on government-owned property, while entirely legitimate, has led to some concern over possible despoilation of Los Pades National Forest, one of the few wilderness areas on the west coast. Though interest in the "uranium rush" is running high on the Peninsula, few people seemed to feel that a major strike with large-scale mining operations is in prospect.

New Creative Thinking, Sewing Classes On Adult School Schedule

is quite popular among the high school students but not enough adults have been attending the class.

The language classes will be entering their second semester but anyone who has studied French, Italian or Spanish, would have no difficulty in catching up to the classes.

Information about classes may be obtained by phoning 7-3020 Monday through Thursdays after 7:00 o'clock or Charles Dawson at 7-4015.

Co. Planning Board Requested To Take Stand On Freeway

by the majority of Carmel residents.

The county planners, while expressing a variety of individual opinions on the freeway controversy, declined to take an immediate stand, but agreed that the commission would declare its view as soon as a recommendation on the proposed freeway routes is made by the Carmel Planning Commission and the city council and other groups.

According to Faw, who was accompanied to the planners' session by Mayor Horace Lyon, the Hatton Canyon route is regarded with a certain distaste by State Highway Engineer E. J. L. Petersen, who drew up the maps of the two routes now on display at city hall. While the Hatton Canyon route would be some 2000 feet longer than the Highway 1 route, there would be no appreciable difference in cost in construction between the two, Faw said. Estimated cost of the freeway is somewhere in the vicinity of one and a half million dollars.

A public hearing on the freeway will be held here by the State Highway Commission on February 19.

Council Did So Much For Carmel In 1954

ant was hired to go over the entire zoning ordinance, and the suggestions made will be gone over very thoroughly in the future. Undoubtedly there will be a tightening up of the ordinance in regard to use permits (churches, schools and other non-profit organizations) in residental areas. Soon there will be restrictions on signs on buildings.

"One of the most important problems which faces all of us next year is the proposed freeway, as recommended by the Highway Commission. This is the route along Highway 1. Many of us are in favor of the Hatton Canyon Route, which would eliminate destruction of residences and be less of a local traffic hazard. A public hearing is to be held on February 19 and we hope to present a united front on this occasion.

"Our first step will be a special meeting next Tuesday afternoon at 5 oclock of the City Planning Commission when the subject will be discussed and a recommendation made. Our next will be our council meeting on Wednesday when we will consider the recommendation of the commission.

"Carmel Unincorporated, also, is to have a meeting soon on the same subject and will study our recommendations. Next we will announce a public meeting and we hope that representatives of all local organizations and business firms will attend. The date of the meeting will be announced later."

During the interview, Councilman John Chitwood walked in and reported that work would be started soon on re-wiring of the Forest Theater, since a low bid had been submitted. This eliminates a dangerous fire hazard, as well as improving the entire set-up, he pointed out.

Chitwood also reminded us that the buildings next to the city hall will be hauled away and that this area will be used by the city for parking and planting.

Mayor Lyon commended Police Chief Clyde Klaumann for his excellent record during the year, pointing out the reduction of reportable crimes, as well as his excellent work with the youth of the community. The fire department also received plaudits for a fine low fire-damage year and, he said, records at the City Hall have never been in such excellent shape.

As I left, he marked that the interview had not been such a chore as he had imagined it would be and asked me to recommend that all city council members should have their salaries doubled. (In case anyone should take this seriously, these hard-working people spend countless hours for the good of our community for nary a red cent, whatever a red cent is.)

represented, "so people don't have to be running over to Salinas for every little thing."

How about rows? Does he recall any outstanding fights between the supervisors and the citizens, or among the supervisors themselves?

"There was an outstanding row the first day I got on the board," said Andy. "They dumped the fellow supposed to be chairman and elected somebody who didn't know a hell of a thing about it."

"FLYING MINISTER" TO LECTURE HERE WEDNESDAY

Author, lecturer and minister Dr. Raymond Charles Barker will give a public lecture on Religious Science at 8:00 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Carmel Woman's Club.

Dr. Barker is minister of the First Church of Religious Science in New York City and president of the International Association of Religious Science Churches, in which capacity he recently flew to Paris and London to establish various pre-church groups. As past president of the International New Thought Alliance, Dr. Barker has lectured in all major cities in this country and Europe, and is now engaged in an 8000-mile flying tour from New York to Calgary, Canada, via the West Coast.

The author of numerous books and pamphlets, Dr. Barker's most recent publication, Treat Yourself to Life, is already in its third edition. His lecture here Wednesday, which will be entitled No One Stops You But Yourself, is sponsored by Dr. Carleton Whitehead, minister of the Church of Religious Science in Monterey.
